The following players may play flanker in addition to halfback:

Don Maynard — 1958 New York Giants Lenny Moore — 1958 Baltimore Colts
Timmy Brown — 1960 Philadelphia Eagles Frank Gifford — 1958 New York Giants

When playing halfback assume all pass receiving results followed by an asterisk to be incomplete. When playing flanker assume all results to be complete for the stated yardage.

1958 BALTIMORE COLTS — NFL Champions with a 9-3 record. Perhaps one of the two greatest teams of all time. A tremendous offense, virtually impossible to stop, was led by the passing of John Unitas to receivers Raymond Berry and Lenny Moore, and the running of Moore (7.3) and Alan Ameche (4.6). The Colt's defense was sparked by three famous all pro linemen, Gino Marchetti, Big Daddy Lipscomb and Art Donovan. A total of eight all pro players spearheaded this great team.

1958 NEW YORK GIANTS — NFL Eastern Champions with a 9-3 record. Actually beat the Colts in regular season play but lost to them in famous overtime championship game. The Giants' great strength was their defense which gave up the fewest points for the 1958 season. Stalwarts of the defense were all pro players Sam Huff, Jimmy Patton and Andy Robustelli. The Giants' offense was capably handled by quarterback Chuck Conerly and runners, Frank Gifford and Alex Webster and receiver, Kyle Rote.

1960 PHILADELPHIA EAGLES — Surprising NFL Champions with a 10-2 record. The Eagles were dependent upon the incomparable passing skills of the league's most valuable player, Norm Van Brocklin. Van Brocklin, with little help from his team's inconsistent running attack, completed 54% of his passes for 24 TD's. Receivers Tommy McDonald and Pete Retzlaff led a fine receiving group. Amazingly, Sonny Jurgensen (55% and 5 TD's) was the backup quarterback. The defense led by all pro linebacker Chuck Bednarik, who incidently was also the starting offensive center, stunned NFL play with 30 interceptions!

1962 GREEN BAY PACKERS — NFL Champions with a 13-1 record. Regarded by many experts as the greatest team of all time. Incredibly, 14 Packer players made first or second team all pro including all but one member of their famous offensive line unit. An offense, consisting of fullback Jim Taylor (5.4 and 19 TD's), quarterback Bart Starr (62%) and receivers Max McGee, Boyd Dowler and Ron Kramer averaged a league leading 30 points per game while the defense allowed only 10½ points per game. The 1962 Packers were a team without an overall weakness.

1963 CHICAGO BEARS — NFL Champions with an 11-1-2 record. The Bears easily were the strongest defensive team of their time. Five all pro players led by fearsome Doug Atkins formed the defensive nucleus. Intercepting 36 passes and recovering 18 fumbles, the Midway Monsters held their opponents to 10 points a game! Offensively, the team was led by receivers, Mike Ditka and Johnny Morris.

1965 CLEVELAND BROWNS — Incomparable fullback, Jimmy Brown's last season resulted in an Eastern Conference championship and an 11-3 record for the Browns. Jimmy Brown (5.3 and 17 TD's) powered the running attack which was supported by the awesome throwing arm of quarterback Frank Ryan passing to receiver Gary Collins. A defense that was known "to bend a lot but to be tough near the goal line" was inspired by defensive end Bill Glass and linebacker Jim Houston.
